of an operation of the disease for which any operation would be necessary as still a matter of the wildest guesswork. The fact, however, leaked out here tonight that last week, presumably subsequent to the issuance of the Harriman statement, in which he admitted that Drs. Brewer, Janea and Crile had examined him, he had submitted to a searching examination by Drs. Wyeth and Hancock, noted in New York as specialists on cancer.

Another item of information gleaned here today was regarded as most significant in respect to the condition of Mr. Harriman. This was the fact that the first thing this morning the sailroad magnate's unmarried daughters, the Misses Mary and Carol Harriman, telephoned to the young woman in charge of the Sunday-school of St. John's (Harriman's) Church at Arden, saying:

Once more the villages at the foot of the Harriman mountain are busing with unwonted life, once more the Harriman army is mounting guard at all the approaches to the fastnesses, and once more a condition of slege is apparent, with the Harriman people trying to keep secret the goings on in the castle and the newspaper men discovering them in spite of all.

Dr. Lyle would add nothing to his earlier statement that it was merely indigestion. He insists that there is not the lightest cause for alarm. In view of the fact that no official bulletins as to Mr. Harriman's condition are issued, and no official statement is

The statements of both explorers that they have found the pole are accepted by Prof. Moore, who says hebelieves that they will be substantial treatments of the Geographic Society directors later in the week to take action toward making suitable recognition of the remarkable exploits of the two American explorers.

"That dispatch from Peary means that he has finally achieved what he has so long been after," said Prof. Gannett. 'I am awfully glad that he has reached the North Pole, whether he was the first to reach there or not. He certainly worked hard enough to get there. LEAVES ON HOTTEST DAY.

It may have been one of the ironies of nature tha Peary should start for the pole on the last day of the hotter spell New York City had seen for thirty-six years, but so it befell. On that day a reporter aboard the Roosevelt found a seaman sitting disconsolately in a companionway.

"Isn't there anything you want to take with you that you haven't now?" asked the reporter, thinking he was speaking to Capt Bartlett.

"If you have got anything to read you might send it aboard," replied the seaman.

The next morning a story appeared in a newspaper saying the Peary expedidition wanted books and reading matter. Immediately the stream started. Trucks, hand carts, messenger boys, automobiles and cartiages began arriving with books and magazines. Before noon all the extra space between decks had been filled. In the afternoon they were packed on the decks and finally Capt. Bartlett's cabin, and that officer told Peary he would have to thunt among them for his instruments.

HARD TIME TO GET CASH.

The last the call with the call and that officer told Peary he would have to thunt among them for his instruments.

HARD TIME TO GET CASH.

HARD TIME TO GET CASH.
Finally, before the sailing hour, with all hands at work, the most desirable had been selected, and the others were dumped into the bunkers of the Rooseveit to be fed to the fires. The steam which propelled the vessel out of the East River was made by books and magazines contributed by the people of New York.

When it came to cash contributions, however, it was a different story. When Peary had set up new bollers in the vessel's hold before he could start on his last expedition, his friends say he had a hard time to raise the money. Every penny he could gut together see the commander himself."

PLANS FOR DASH.

At Etah, Peary had established a station for training Eskimos and dogs, and accumulating rupplies. On former expeditions it had been his plan to take his ship as far north as he could penetrate, and there put into winter quarters, using Etah as a base of supplies.

This time he divided his party into three groups—one to make geological observations, another to make metsorological notations, and a third of five or six picked men with dogs for the first two followed more slowly as supporting parties, and established bases of supplies for the return trip.

That Peary's friends foresaw some of the criticisms likely to be evoked by Dr. Cook's claims and that they undertook to guard against such a situation, is shown by the remarkable plan arranged here for reporting the discovery he .oped for.

It was agreed that if Peary found the pole he should notify the world in a simple sentence. Then a messenger from his publisher was to start north from New York and get his story of the expedition. This man was to travel post haste to Labrador. There he was to charter a fishing smack and sail northward as far as possible toward Cape Childley. On these bleak shores he was to camp and wait for the first that signal the post haste to Labrador. There he was to charter a fishing smack and sail northward as far as possible toward Cape Childley. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—The announcement that Commander Peary had reached the North Pole was received here with immense astonishment. It was pointed out on all sides that this was the most remarkable coincidence in human history.

The first dispatch awakened considerable misgivings, some being inclined to see the practical joke of some wag trying to give sensational surroundings to Dr. Cook's story, but a later dispatch stating that Peary had also sont a telegraph in cipher left no room for longer doubt.

telegraph in cipher left no room for longer doubt.

The Lokal Anzelger says that scarcely any room exists to doubt the authenticity of Peary's dispatches or that he also reached the pole. The paper calls it a "unique coincidence, without parallel in the world's history."

The Tageblatt thinks that the two discoverers mutually confirm each other.

"It will remain a memorable event," says the paper. "The civilized world will congratulate America upon the success of her sons, to whom equal honors are due."

The Vossische Zeitung says: "It is one of the most wonderful accidents that two explorers succeded almost at the same time in solving the polar problem which has occupied the attention of the races for centuries." PROF. CHAMBERLAIN

"AMERICAN ROUTE."

Peary's idea was to reach the pole by the "American route," a way which he himself had studied and developed during his former expedition. The advantage of this route is that it allows a base of supplies approximately one hundred miles nearer the goal than the Spitzbergen base, which has been its chief rival. The advantages of the route appeared during Peary's trip in 1906, when he attained the northernment point thitherto reached by man —37 deg. 6 min. at about the 49th meridian, west longitude. This was on April 21.

dian Harbor, nothing was known of the fight he had been making across the frozen crust of the north.

Access was obtained today, however, to a number of personal letters which Commander Peary had written to friends and business associates in New York between the time he sailed on July 6 and the time he left his supply depot at Etah in the following August. The last words from him came in the mails of September 1, 1908.

The letters were written in August aboard the Roosevelt, but were not dated. Some were to Mrs. Peary and others to personal and business friends. These letters told little of conditions at Etah, nor did they speak of what his hopes or misgivings might be. Mrs. Peary, in writing to a friend in June, 1909, said:

"Nothing has been heard from Mr. Peary since last fall when the letters dated Etah in August were delivered. I hope to have news in September, and will be much disappointed if I don't see the commander himself."

PLANS FOR DASH.

At Etah, Peary had established a station for training Eskimos and dogs, and accumulating supplies. On former expeditions it had been his plan to take his ship as far north as all hands at work, the most desirable at work the decks and finally Capt. Bartlett's cabin, and that officer told Peary he would have to him the following August and the pear species on the last day of the hote test spell New York City had seen for thirty-six years, but so it befell. One of the advantages of Grape-Nuts food is that it is pre-digested in the process of manufacture.

The starch contained in the wheat and barley is transformed into grape-sugar by exactly the same method as this process is carried on in the human body, that is, by the use of moisture and long exposure to moderate warmth. This grows the diastase in the grains, then long baking completes the re-markable change from starch to grape-sugar.

Therefore, the most delicate stomach can handle Grape-Nuts and the food is quickly absorbed into the blood and tissue—certain parts of it going directly to build and nourish the brain and nerve centers. "There's a Reason."

clearing the bases and going to second himself. Harkness popped to Devereaux.

In the fourth Cooney singled, stole second, and went to third on a low pitch. After Olson popped to the catcher and Graney fanned, Fisher bounced an easy one to Devereaux which the latter rumbled and Cooney scored. It was a gift.

In the seventh Graney walked, was sacrificed by Fisher, and went to third on Vance's bad throw to catch him off the keystone sack. He scored on Johnson's single. In the eighth McCredie singled and went to second on a wild pitch. Cooney walked after Harkness had filed to right and Olson wingled to short, filling the bases. Graney sent an easy grounder toward I third, and Mott, in his eagerness to make the play, rumbled and McCredie scored. The side was then retired with a foul and a fly with the

Now I want to teil you how and why we have made such rapid progress. All down the line our efficiency is greater—we are doing things differently. We are doing business in a new way with new methods. We are cutting costs mesenty. We are coing outsiness in a new way with new methods. We are cutting costs and selling high grade goods on the one-price system, as cheap or cheaper than you can possibly buy seconds at any kind of a sale or on any kind of a bargain counter. To attempt new things and new methods means obstacles, and obstacles mountain high. To run against obstacles makes strong men stronger; it develops power, and brings into play every fiber of their being. We have to be business engineers. We strike rocks—big ones—we don't tunnel them through, we blast them. Occasionally, someone gets hurt, and hurt badly; if he is a man of the right type, he jumps right back into line—claws grow where he lost fingers, and again he takes hold with mortal grip. Clocks are useless in our business—we don't know the difference between day and night. Every week has six working days, every day twenty-four hours, and every minute "on the job." We work while you sleep. We have problems—knotty ones—but none remain unsolved. We bite through them somehow, and plot and plan all the time. We search everlastingly. We hear, we see, we perceive, we bite through them somehow, and plot and plan all the time. We search everlastingly. We hear, we see, we perceive, we absorb, we remember, we think, we study, we calculate—unerringly. We alm accurately—we shoot the buil's eye. Foes to the right of us, foes to the left of us, foes in front of us, but most of them behind us. The conquering struggle clarifies our mind—it steadles our nerves and our "nerve." Our difficulties are our best teachers; our mistakes but stepping stones to more substantial success. We know that we're on the right track, and pursue it unfilinchingly. We never stand admiringly over our handiwork. We dig for better ways to make it better still.

even 20-round draw as the main event of the North End Club's club tonight as could be possible.

The rounds went first to Sullivan, then to Mantell as the Boston twin tired and later again switched to the cider fighter, so that when Referee Hairry Foley raised both hands in the air to signify an even verdict, the crowd was well satisfied.

It could hardly have been otherwise. There were those who thought that the cleverness of Sullivan entitled him to a shade and there were others who believed that the aggressiveness of to a shade and there were others who believed that the aggressiveness of Manteil gave him a slight lead.

Sullivan danced a jig in the center of the ring to show his approval and there was no outcry from Manteil and his seconds.

Jack Twin showed what age will do to a fighter. In his younger days he would have Manteil an easy proposition to handle. As it was Jack was tired in many a round, but saved himself in a manner that is peculiar to him and fought the last of the twenty rounds with a fremy of action that brought the crowd to its feet. Manteil had youth and strength to help him, but was disappointing in that he failed to follow his leads when he had Sullivin ir an apparently weakened condition.

Admitting that Sullian showed he van it an apparently weakened condition.

Admitting that Sullian showed he has gone back in strength and was not capable of the fight of a few months ago, he put more action into the contest than was expected of him. There was clinching, of course, but the Bostonian was willing to mix matters with his opponent and was not afraid of a punch.

For the first three rounds of the fight Sullivan's work was a revelation of boxing skill. He used his left almost exclusively and jabbed Mantell about the face pretty much at will. In thet hird, Mantell had a badly puffed face and seemed unable to get away from thes traight lefts. In the fourth, however, Sullivan appeared to wift. It looked as if the pace was about to tell on him. Mantell, who showed more speed at that time than any other, used his one-two punch, leading with the left and crossing with the right. A couple of blows sent Sullivan to cover and gave Mantell a clear lead. For a matter of seven rounds, Mantell continued the lead that he had secured, but Sullivan, husbanding his strength, came back well in the eleventh and outboxed his opponent.

Then followed three rounds of inter-

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—News comes from all over the country to the monotonous effect, that farm labor is needed a little more than any other kind of labor. Now, a single county in Georgia needs a thousand men, and an employment expert here has estimated that New York State alone could easily use 134,000, not for the harvest season alone, but for all the time. Yet there is also the anomalous condition that some of the economists at least are attributing the high cost of living to the commission merchants and the retailers by citing that fact, if it is lafact. The average traveler naturally enough imagines that the charge lanot evithout foundation, however, when half a grape fruit, which the Florida planter gets 2 cents for (the selling price of a whole one being if cents to him) costs you 40 cents in a first-class hotel and a fairly attractive big red apple costs you 15 cents on Broadway, or somewhere between 5 cents and 10 cents by the quart, and if the farmer hereabouts gets $1 a barrel for about the same thing, or something equally "as" good, he feels that he is doing fairly well, though he has a kind of continuing grouch about it.

The Assistant Secretary of the Description of Commerce and Labor, who

The Assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, which has a kind of supervision of the Immigration Bureau and especially its Division of Distribution, is taking a livelier and livelier interest in distributing widely throughout the country (beyond the limits, if possible, of congested districts of the cities) any and all immigrants who are suited to go on the land. Much has been done with this, and there is more to be done. The various private employment agencies, feeling the demand for tilliers of the soil, distribute them as fast and as far as may be. "Harrington"—the name is presumed to have been assumed—was taken to the Clara Barton Hospital several the Clara Barton Hospital several days ago from No. 801 East Sixth street. He was then believed to be tsuffering from appendicitis. Before leaving his lodgings for the hospital he caused to be burned all papers, letters and other documents and notes in his room, saying they were private and concerned none but himself. At the hospital the patient refused to the last to tell who he was, where he came from or where his relatives, if he had any, might be found. iarity with the form and content of the biblical literature which their parents and grandparents possessed, but which they have for the most part lost. Few things are sadder than the destruction and dissipation of that familiarity with the English Bible which has so long been the shaping force in English literature. The pathetic internecine warfares of the several Christian sects have steadily discredited the significance of the Christian tradition as a whole. It may be that the time has now come when the narrowness and pettiness that have resisted the study of the Bible, unless such study could be twisted to partisan and rectarian ands, will be overcome by that broader and more catholic spirit which aims to preserve the knowledge of the greatest of English classics and its literary influence."

Freecott will have a grand labor celebration September 4, 5 and 8, with haseball and other athletic events. It had been proposed to have a boxing exhibition for prises, but this has been propheted by the United States District Attorney.

The great new glass for the Lowell Observatory has arrived at Flagstaff. The transportation cost by express amounted to $1200.

The streams and lakes of Northern Arisona are being stocked with fish of varieties deemed best suited to the several localities. The upper Verde is to have Rocky Mountain trout, and Clear Creek and a number of other small gireams which have been notable for fish are being repopulated. Loe's Lake, near Prescott, is being stocked with blue Illinois castish.

Meager attendance at the labor-union picnic at Chutes Park yesterday somewhat alarmed the agitators. In the afternoon several thousands were there, and found that every other attribute of labor-union day had been subordinated to labor temple graft. But the several thousand did not stay long, and in the evening the park had a lonesome appearance.

The fallure is attributed largely to the disintegration setting in among the unions, and the hostility of the Los Angeles people to the bossiam of the agitators. Watch and Optical Co. 305 So. Broadway

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW ROCHELLE (N. Y.) Sept. 6.—
William Goddard Iselin, the 7-yearold heir to $30,000,000, is dead at Baden Baden, according to a cablegram received at the home here of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin.
His mother was Hope Goddard, daughter of the late Col. William Goddard of Providence, R. I. At the christening of the boy, Col. Goddard invested $1,000,000 in stocks and bonds for the child, and principal and accrued interest would have been his when he came of age.

When Col. Goddard died, Mrs. Iselin received $10,000,000 outright and eventually the bulk of the estate, amounting to about $30,000,000, will be hers. Her son would have inherited most of this, as well as a large share of his father's fortune. Rosedale Cemetery

For the defense, the layman-attorney marshalled these facts: That a man cruel and cunning enough to kill his wife would have cremated the body to prevent any traces of the work of the poisone would have fled to Honduras or into the mountains of Mexico, when he learned that an investigation was in progress; the real murderer would seek to avoid the penalty of his act by evasion and technicalities, instead of advising his attorneys to allow the widest investigation of all surrounding circumstances.

low the widest investigation of all surrounding circumstances.

Bennett lifted his hand in protest when asked about his relations with "Midge" Moister. He said that was something he could not discuss.

The jail attendants say the accused man has sleep teacefully in his cell each night since he has been in the County Jail. Unlike most cases of similar nature, the real estate dealer has interested himself in the petty details of the life around him. He has thoroughly inspected the jail and he pronounces it one of the best-kept institutions he has ever heard of. He raises Sheriff Hammel and says the stendants are very considerate of the comfort of prisoners.

Chief of Police Dishman had given orders for a strict enforcement of the ordinance requiring the carrying of lights on all vehicles and the dragnet lights on all vehicles and the dragnet was flung far and wide.

John W. Reitzman, who holds the contract for hauling the mails between the postoffice and the railroad stations, was the storm center for a little while. He openly defled the city of Los Angeles and all the minions it could round up to bolster its laws. But he was only one of the great and amazingly diversified crowd. He held the spotlight for but a little while, and then he faded away.

SIMPLY ENFORCING LAW.

SIMPLY ENFORCING LAW. SIMPLY ENFORCING LAW.
The ordinance providing for lights on all vehicles, with a penalty of a fine of not more than $100, or not more than thirty days in jail, or both, was adopted by the Council some time ago. Chief Dishman decided that the ordinance, never having been repealed, should be enforced, even as all other live laws, and his decision was given wide publicity.

repealed, should be enforced, even as all other live laws, and his decision was given wide publicity.

Then Dishman decided to give the public a little time to "get next," as he put it. Last night, it was held that the public had, had lima enough for study and that it was time for commencement exercises.

Early in the evening Patrolman Waidridge came in conflict with the driver of a United States mail wagon. To stop the mail was not to be thought of, but the driver was notified to appear in court at 9 o'clock this morning.

It was only a short time later that Reitzman burst into the office of Police Lieutenant Williams.

"What's all this business about lights on the wagons," he demanded in a voice that was meant to make it plain that he was angry.

"It means that your wagons must carry lights," answered the lieutenant suavely.

Steamship St. Croix, which has been chartered by the Hill interests to ply from San Pedro to Portland and Seattle in competition with the Harriman boals.

THE port of Los Angelea is soon to be the center of a traffic war between Hill and Harriman-controlled steamship companies, if the signs are read aright by local steamship men.

Hill, by the traffic arrangement just entered into between the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway and the North Pacific Steamship Company, gains an advantage over his powerful rival, and by October 1 will have three boats plying between San Pedro, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle. The Roanoke and the George W. Elder, 2500-ton ships, are already engaged in coastwise trade, and the St. Croix has beautiful for speed, and is arranged for the convenient handling of frieight, of which she can carry about thirty-five carloads. The passenger traffic agreement between the steamship company and the Hill railway will be effective September 25. The details of the freight traffic arrangement are under consideration and will probably be effective about October 15.

Last night something of a demonstration was held at Broadhead's house, when a number of his friends, including prominent Los Angeles people, called to express their felicitations.

The captain will probably leave on his fifteen-day vacation soon. His wife is in very poor health, being completely worn out by the strain of the trial, and he will very probably ask tor an extension of fifteen days at the end of his vacation. By the close of the month, the necessary police adjustments will have been made, and he will quietly return to duty.

NEVADA GETS OIL ON THIRTY

Strike not Conclusive, but It Is Important.

If Proven Good Will Extend Belt Half a Mile.

Associated Pipe Is Delayed in Shipment.

COALINGA, Sept. 5.—The Nevada Petroleum has oil on 20. Early Mon-day morning the drill dropped into a sand at 2432 feet and while it is not sand at 2432 feet and while it is not believed to be the big sand, the strata shows excellently. Oil worked through the heavy stand of water and showed itself to be of good quality. The drill thursday was in twenty feet and at that depth the sand showed that it carried considerable oil. Work will be sunk deeper. There are no evidences of water, everything indicating that the cementing off was effectively done. The eight and one-quarter-inch casing was being sunk.

The discovery is important, opening half a mile more territory on the flat. The nearest producing well is the American Petroleum, one-half of a mile west.

The log shows the formation to be approximately uniform, although the conditions are hot exactly the same as in No. 1 of the same company. Oil was secured in No. 4 where it was thought it would get water. The territory is by no means proved and work will continue with the caution that has marked the company's previous work. Wells No. 1 and 2, which are thought to be in the proximity of the sand, will be allowed to remain idle until the result in No. 4 is known definitely. The work will be watched with the closest of attention as a good well on the Nevada property means much to the field.

Government records upon which taxes have been paid show that these mines produced $100,000,000 in the last seventy-five years and modern methods disclose the fact that their resources have scarcely been touched. The big deal is the result of two years of continuous investigation and negotiation.

W. D. McCright of this city has sold his interest in the McCracken mines, near Bouse, to E. L. Godbe and associates of Salt Lake. The deal was closed here last week.

The same interests have secured options on the old Original McCracken and the Signal mines which, with the new McCracken, will be exploited on a large scale. The syndicate taking over the mines has ample funds for development and will go in for deep mining.

The McCracken particularly is a good gold, silver and lead producer, and should under active competent management come to the front again. The main shaft has been put down 400 feet, and it is asserted a small amount of drifting will open the ore body.

At any rate, it seems that both Cook and Peary re respectable married men.

Count Zeppelin may now fly to the pole whenever it suits him. Old Glory is there. There is every reason to believe that the North tole will soon be a mere way station.

The question now is: Did Peary see anything of a brass tube when he was at the pole?

California can raise crops sufficient to feed half ne world and make a sure shot of it every year.

We must wait for the full returns, of course, but looks to us as though Cook had beaten Peary

We shall now be very much interested to hear what passes at the meeting when Cook and Peary get together.

It is a great tribute to Dr. Cook that those who now him haven't the slightest doubt of the truth

Dr. Cook is a strong man, but he can never hope to be able to carry all the medals that will be pre-cented to him. "Record broken by an American"-it is a phrase that you can see any time you may happen to pick Every time a report comes from the Owens River aqueduct it seems to be twice as good as the report that preceded it.

The Republican party was built up with too much labor and care to be knocked galley west by

There may soon be almost as many candidates for the office of Mayor as there are for the office of Councilman-at-large.

Los Angeles is not only breaking all records in bank clearances, but she will also break the church-building records this winter.

Are the brokers and crop gamblers who are fig-uring on a shortage of cotton taking the Imperial Valley into their calculations?

After Peary and Cook have been home for awhile Mr. Harriman may conclude advisability of an apex railway.

The Labor Day dispatches from San Francisco indicate that Pinhead McCarthy is still making his living as a walking delegate.

England's carping pessimism compared with Den-mark's hearty and enthusiastic indersement of Dr. Cook puts England in a bad'light.

Another thing about it is that if there must be political machine there ought to be more than a shater and two other persons in it.

The Mayor cannot consistently appeal to the pro-letariat for support. The proletariat cannot for-get all the offices he has kept it out of.

A good many of the candidates will find that it is not the same to be in the hands of one's friends as it is to be in the hands of the voters.

A dispatch says that Canada wants a navy. We are sorry to hear it, because Canada doesn't need a navy and is much better off without one.

The trouble with Maybelle Gilman's return to the stage is that she will now probably want to play "East Lynne" or something like that.

If it be true that Peary has reached the pole we are glad. He has chased the old thing as persistently as George Alexander has been chasing offices.

We suppose that the Stars and Stripes will be mailed to the apex as many as seven times before any other flag gets within a hundred miles of it.

A professor of the University of Chicago doubts that Cook reached the apex. Is he the same professor who said that the world will some day be ruled by birds?

There might have been something rotten in Denmark at one time, but there is nothing rotten there now. The Danes have treated Dr. Cook as though

You can say what you please, but it must be admitted that this primary fad makes it possible for too many unnecessary noises to assail the ears and the nerves of the community.

Among the Hopis it is the girls who do the wooling, which is also the case sometimes outside of the reservation among people who haven't a drop of Indian blood in their veins.

People who have been hoping that something would happen to elevate the stage are not particularly encouraged by the report that Maybelle Gilman Corey is to return to the footlights.

The Brooklyn preacher who declares that the world will be transformed into a veritable paradise in the year 1914 is probably a harmless young person who expects to get married that year.

We fear that the "mother country" has fallen hopelessly into the grouch habit. What difference does it make to her who it is that has discovered the North Pole, since it wasn't an Englishman?

We pray heaven that it will not finally narrow flown to a controversy between Peary and Cook as to who got there first—a controversy that would never end and never be settled. Nothing could be worse than that,

COOK, PEARY, AND THE POLE.

The remarkable news that Commander Peary has also found the North Pole, flashed over the wires yesterday, will give the scientists something to figure upon, and the public no end of chances for speculation. To Peary belongs great honor and credit for the discovery of the pole, although to Dr. Cook will doubtless be granted the distinction of being the first white man to reach that goal of centuries of ordered.

There seems no reason to doubt that both me Americans, too, have reached the pole; at least, there should be no doubt until the experts have had time and occasion to verify the observations taken by the explorers. Polar explorers are not given to prevarigating, and both men are experienced in Arctic work.

It will doubtless be a great disappointment to Peary's friends if Dr. Cook's records prove, as seems certain, that he reached the pole. But they can take some satisfaction in the fact that Dr. Cook took primary lessons in polar exploration from Peary. It was as a member of one of Peary's expeditions that Dr. Cook was first made acquainted with Arctic affairs and learned how to overcome the difficulties are consistent in the Far North. ties encountered in the Far North.

Peary has devoted a lifetime to the work of find-ing the North Pole. His discoveries in the Arctic have been of far more advantage to science, perhaps, than those made by any other explorer. And it is safe to say that his record of the trip to the pole will have more information of value to the scientific world than Cook's. With Dr. Cook the scientific world than Cook's. With Dr. Cook the main object was to get to the pole. With Peary the finding of the pole has always been a secondary matter. The gathering of scientific data has been his chief endeavor; and his ambition to find the pole has been principally to record scientifically the conditions obtaining there.

Whether Dr. Cook located precisely to an inch or a foot the end of the earth's axis is of no moment. "A gun fired from where I stood would send a bullet over the pole," he is quoted as having said. That is near enough for any purpose. He did not have as complete an equipment as did Peary and it may be that Peary found the exact pole. Both have undoubtedly been near enough to the exact pole to tell of conditions. It is now up to the scientists. As for the explorers, they have done their work and done it nobly. There should be no detraction or controversy over the matter.

IN RE HARMON.

It might be well to remember when Los Angeles pays its tribute of respect to Gov. Judson Harmon of Ohio, the latter part of the present month, that the people will not only be doing obeisance to the Chief Executive of a State that bears unblushingly the honor of being the "Mother of Presidents," but will be entertaining the most likely candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1912.

In 1908 Judson Harmon was a pear-candidate

In 1908 Judson Harmon was a near-candidate for the great honor, but he was obsessed by the Bryan movement, and besides he had not then won his spurs by capturing the Republican State of Ohio in a Presidential year. Since then several pages have been written on the credit side of Judson Harmon's public record. His victors in the pages have been written on the credit side of Judson Harmon's public record. His victory in the Buckeye State was not such a great feat considering the circumstances; but he won out, and that is more to the purpose. If, perchance, his nomination for a second term next year should be followed by a second election, it goes without saying that he will be a formidable candidate, for a man with such a record is not to be laughed down the winds.

The Ohio Republicans have been in a pretty pother for the past four years. In 1905 their can-didate for Governor, Myron T. Herrick, was dedidate for Governor, Myron T. Herrick, was de-feated because he drew the opposition of the Anti-Saloon League, which was followed later by the passage by the Legislature of the Rose local-option law, enacted with a view to mollifying the temper-ance element, only to find themselves in 1908 op-posed by their old friends, the liquor element, and the Anti-Saloon League taking but an indifferent interest in the result. This last condition brought about the election of Harmon, although the bal-ance of the Democratic State ticket went down in defeat, and a Legislature was chosen that elected defeat, and a Legislature was chosen that elected Congressman Theodore R. Burton to the United States Senate.

With Harmon's election the Democratic machine in Ohio has been working overtime with a view of presenting his availability to the country as a Presidential factor. The Governor himself has Presidential factor. The Governor himself has been busy exploiting his virtues, going about the country to give the people an opportunity to see a real live aspirant for an honor to which William Jennings Bryan is supposed to hold the letters patent. The trip to the Seattle exposition, to be followed by the journey to Los Angeles, is a part of the general programme of political publicity. It is desired that the men in the various States who Marke delegates to national conventions may see Harmon, take him by the hand and sample 'the elegant brand of soft talk of which he is a past master. He will come accompanied by his glittering staff, made up of officers of the Ohio National Guard, and there will be a martial note in the reeption proceedings.
For years Harmon has been a corporation attor ney, and for months after he was inaugurated Governor of Ohio he held the lucrative post of receiver of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad. A man who could do that and not have the hands of an indignant Democracy pointing at him in de-rision must be reckoned with. But Harmon has been so smooth about it that the corporation bait-ers within the ranks of the Ohio Democracy have forgotten to attack him on that account. No Republican Governor could have done that and not een denounced in black type, double-leaded matter, in every Democratic newspaper between the

So it might be the part of wisdom for the people of Los Angeles to look Judson Harmon over, for if the political prophets east the horoscope aright he will be much in the public eye in the contest for delegates to the next Democratic National Convention. He is a clean-cut, clever gentleman, and of unsullied public record. Besides, he belongs to the Cleveland wing of Democrats, and only swallowed Bryanism in 1908 because he was a candidate himself, and in 1896 and 1900 for the sake of "regu-

AN EXTRAVAGANT DEPARTMENT.

A The Postoffice Department, as judged by the relations of income to outgo, is one of the most extravagant departments in the government. Last year the deficit of the department was about $16,000,000, and for the year closed June 30 it is said the deficit will likely amount to about This discrepancy is not because of low charges for the service. It costs as much to send a letter in this country as in any civilized country in the world, and it will cost hereafter 10 cents to regisletter in the United States, which is said to ter a letter in the United States, which is said to be 150 per cent, more than the same service costs in Great Britain or any of the British colonies and more than in any civilized countries of the world. And so about money orders. In Great Britain for 12 cents a money order for $100 may be sent. In the United States such an order costs 30 cents. Small amounts of money may be sent in the United Kingdom for 1 cent. Here the lowest charge is 3 cents. Yet this department of the postoffice service. cents. Yet this department of the postoffice service according to law has to pay its way, and so it is not blamable for the deficit.

If we ever get the parcels post in operation here and the service is managed as badly as some other departments of the service we shall have a considerable deficit to meet. If we have postal savings banks the deficit of the postoffice service is likely banks the deficit of the postoffice service is likely to be increased unless improved methods of handling that business prevail. The government proposes to pay 2 per cent. on deposits in postoffice savings banks if they are ever established, according to the programme outlined by President Taft. In England the government pays 2½ per cent. interest on deposits in the postal savings banks, and arely comes out even.

The Postoffice Department claims that a great The Postoffice Department claims that a great deal of free transportation of mail is done the cost of which ought to be charged to other departments which benefit by the service. Even if this were done the people would have to pay the same deficit, no matter what system of book-keeping may be resorted to. It might make a better showing for the Postoffice Department, but certainly would not make any difference to the taxpayers who foot the bills.

GREEN-EYED JEALOUSY.

Assuming that Dr. Frederick A. Cook reached the North Pole, the achievement means immortality for his name. Broadly speaking, the civilized world has been trying for 400 years to reach the apex of the earth. The icebergs of the Arctic Ocean are strewn with the bones of heroic explorers who attempted to do what it is fair to assume, from the evidences, Dr. Cook has done. from the evidences, Dr. Cook has done.

Why do we assume that this intrepid explorer has reached the North Pole? Because he tells us he has, and his regutation for veracity has not heretofore been questioned; because he has met face to face with geographers, astronomers and Arctic explorers, to whom he has made known, if not in detail at least in outline, the main data not in detail at least in outline, the main data which he will later offer to the world at large, and these, one and all, assure the public that Dr. Cook is not dreaming, still less is he faking, and above all things he is not lying. Of course it must be conceded that the public has not the data in detail on which he will later ground his claims. If these data were laid before the general public few of us would be able to pass upon their value. That is a thing which will have to be done by scientific. a thing which will have to be done by scientific minds who understand the use of instruments, the geography of the earth and the astronomy of the Generous human nature always is impulsively ready to accord to the heroic man the due meed of praise fitting the achievement which marks his peroism. It is always the mark of a small mind to withhold praise from the person who performs the deed of heroism. When this denial of due praise is converted into obstinate skepticism the smallness of the soul from which this springs is 1000 per cent. minimized from that of the one who merely withholds the applause merited by the heroic deed. When skepticism transcends all bounds and breaks out into hostile criticism, into bitter as well as loud proclamation that the hero is a faker or a deceiver, the soul is too infinitesimally little to be visible under a microscope or appreciable for any-thing under any imaginable standard of manhood. It is absolutely disgusting to read the inane, un-called for and unsupported skepticism of the critics of Dr. Frederick A. Cook. The smallness of soul tensified in its littleness when we observe that it springs mostly from rivals who tried and failed to accomplish the thing which Dr. Cook has achieved. We are sorry to have to begin the black list in which these persons, green with jealousy, are catalogued by the mention of an American. Commodore Melville of the United States navy (retired) is a sailor, an explorer, an American. On all three counts we should have expected from him a manly generosity which would have at once given the largest credence to the claim of Dr. Cook that he had reached the North Pole. Commodore Melville knows the hardships and dangers which beset Arctic exploration at every step. In the Jeannette (1879 and later) and in other ships he suffered these hardships and dared these dangers himself in a small way compared with what Frederick A. Cook has faced. He should have been the first whose hands would have applauded the great feat ccomplished by his countryman.

Again, in making out the black list of ungenerous jealousy we reach the name of another American, Prof. Chamberlain of Chicago University. Skepticism is so rampant, so universal, so much the fashion, the natural impulse of the professor in the fashion, the natural impulse of the professor in this school of learning, that perhaps we ought to have been ready to find doubting Thomases thick as flies on carrion in that school.

We turn to the London press and the "has-been" Arctic explorers of England, and are less surprised to find there ungenerous denial of credence to Dr. Cook's claim. Many valiant Englishmen have attempted to break through the less harriers around tempted to break through the icy barriers around the pole and reach the lid upon the earth, and failed. Some of them returned; many of them left failed. Some of them returned; many of them left their bones bleaching upon the perpetual ice of the Arctic region. Admiral Sir George S. Nares is one of them who went some steps in the direction of the pole, but withdrew his trembling footsteps in a timely way to save his life, even to save the tips of his fingers and toes from being frost-bitten, and returned to comfort and safety in England. He is reported, with others, as "working overtime against Dr. Cook." He has not a syllable of data upon which to found his incredulity. The ungenerous souls with eyes green as a snake's with jealousy have no more upon which to found their unbelief than we have upon which to found our belief. Indeed, we have a hundred foundation stones upon which to base our generous credence in Dr. Cook's story where they have not one to support their unwhich to base our generous credence in Dr. Cook's story where they have not one to support their unbelief. They stand out almost alone in their skepticism. Dr. Cook's statements are, so far as they have been made public, specific in their details. He tells us the exact conditions he found at the North Pole. M. Lecointe, a Belgian astronomer, believes Cook's story. The King of Denmark has been convinced, after conference with many scientific persons, individually and in associations, that Dr. Cook is claiming no more than he has done. Cook has been before committees of scientific people who cross-examined him as a hostile attorney would an effective witness in a court trial. With rapid-fire questions they probed him as to the facts on which he bases his claim, and without a moment's hesitation every question was answered categorically, directly and satisfactorily. In the name of common human nature, we call upon these doubting Thomases and persons whose infidelity is based upon personal jealousy to treat Dr. Cook's story with common decency, give him time and opportunity to large heads a before the scientific world. common decency, give him time and opportunity to lay his facts before the scientific world, and not assume that he is worse than an enthusiastic dream er, a foolish faker and a degenerate liar attempting to foist upon the world an impossible story whose truthfulness or untruthfulness is a thing easily established when once the facts in all their detail are laid before competent astronomers and

We have purposely refrained from any referen We have purposely refrained from any reference here to Arctic explorer Peary, in spite of the ab-surdity of the clamor coming from some of his very ill-advised friends and supporters. Peary has not been heard from so far himself, and Mrs. Peary categorically repudiates unfriendly statements at-tributed to her in certain newspaper interviews. The friends of this explorer are mostly of too little significance to merit attention. ace to merit persons who speak without knowing anything about the subject. The silliest of all the silly carping the subject. The silliest of all the silly carping against Cook is the idiotic criticism that the successful explorer followed Peary's route. He did not follow it to the pole, but had he done so it would have been a perfectly warrantable proceeding. ing. Peary never surveyed the route or got from the General Land Office a patent to the land, ice or water. There was a bitter rivalry between Peary and Cook in times past. If upon his return to civilization Peary shall accord proper recognition to the achievement of his rival it will mark him indeed as a person of generous manhood lifted far above the level of his foolish friends. As he has braved the Arctic dangers and endured Arctic hardships in the past, let us hope that we will find in him the large-hearted generosity that usually

A FLING AT THE PADRES.

A A San Francisco publication, referring to the coming Portola Festival at the Golden Gate, takes fling at the Padres. The writer of the article in question is apparently an expatriated New Eng-lander. He makes the inevitable comparison be-tween the Franciscan Padres in California and the Pilgrim Fathers in Massachusetts and thereabouts, as is the unvarying custom of New England writers now and hitherto resident upon these golden shores of glory. In a nutshell, what the writer says is that the

In a nutshell, what the writer says is that the Padres who came with Junipero Serra in 1769 and who afterward labored with Lasuen, were mere proselyters bent on conquest, while the Pilgrim Fathers were men who fled from tyranny to build a new nation. How many times this same view has been printed in California publications, heaves has been printed in California publications heaven only knows, and to what purpose we leave it to the same tribunal to judge.

The conquest of the sunny shores of California the conquest of the sunny shores of California by the Franciscans and the conquest of the bleak stretches of shore and mountain along the Atlantic by the Pilgrim Fathers were totally dissimilar transactions, the one having had nothing on earth to do with the other. The historian of the future, untainted and unprejudiced with inherited provincializing will not attempt to establish connection. vincialism, will not attempt to establish connection or comparison between the two incidents.

or comparison between the two incidents.

The facts in the case are that the people who came over in the Mayflower did flee from tyrannies and religious persecutions. They were fine people, too, and they went up against a fierce proposition when they tackled the Cape Cod country. That they stayed with it and held their own no one can dispute. Incidentally, 'tis true, they ducked a few witches, passed some blue laws which are still on the statute books, and chased opposing religious denominations through the adjoining woods over into Rhode Island, where Roger Williams had thrown down the fences in welcome to all comers. This is history, was the fashion in those days, among all

What the Padres would have done to what the Padres would have done to we are unable to say, for the reason that the not pestered with them. The folks who held in California for the first seventy-five years were all on the same side of the religious. The consequence was that they were compagnared over other questions, which, it seems consistently did quarrel over other questions, which, it seem occasionally did.

But in all justice to the memory of the ciscan Fathers in California it must be all they performed a great work. Whether or work was lasting, who can say? Certainly not their fault that the task they had set the to do was ultimately abandoned. What the was to lift from utter degradation the lower sees known to history clothing them. ages known to history, clothing them, circlem and Christianizing them. They came to a race physically and to redeem it morally, stupendous task they fulfilled. That the fra

At any rate, these brown monks of St. Paleft us the old missions and El Camino Real bequeathing to California the only really mistorical heritage in possession of the national day. And they gave us Junipero Serra, that there is scarcely a more splendid figure in the of American history. For all this we shall grateful; and we are.

Every garment here has the original distinguished touch that for some reason belongs to these early shipments only. These are CREATIONS—later ones copies.

FANCY WAISTS

You will be delighted, possibly relieved, when you see them; there is nothing eccentric, nothing startling, except their beauty. All in the newest fancy Persian effects, stripes, checks and plaids in those "sunset" shades of lovely reds, violets, browns, with lace yokes and simulations of that dainty style. Reports from New York and other shopping centers indicate a great popularity for Persian silks, represented in this shipment by very rich soft patterns, interestingly trimmed, some of them with bands of other silks. The diagonal weaves run from pin checks to the large plaids so handsome when cleverly used, as these are-so cut and laid together as to make the most harmonious blendings of color. Before they are picked over there is certainly some waist here to harmonize with any suit.

TAILORED WAISTS

While losing nothing of their crispy trimness, show pretty graceful lines and some trimming which, while very "correct" looking, makes them more dressy, more Prenchy than their sterner predecessors in

The production of petroleum is becoming an important proposition in Burma. Nine companies, with a combined capital of $22,709,000, are engaged in the extraction or refining of the oil. The crude product was worth $2,917,985 in $907, a growth of nearly $2,000,00 in six years. Burma's oil fields have been worked since the middle of the eighteenth century, but it was not till 1889 that real work began. Between 55 and 100 Americans are engaged with the various companies. The exports of by-products, candles, wax, etc., are increasing. Still, as yet, Burma imports high-grade American oil from the United States to the extent of 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 gallons a year. Fuel oil is to be supplied by Burma to the British navy.

Celebrated With Fine Programme of Sports—Pessibly Fatal Stabbing at San Diego.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There was a celebration today at Tent City, where the programme consisted principally of aquatic sports.

The yacht races were won by Dr. Galman's Trilby, winner of the Lipton cup. In the rowing regatta a picked crew defeated the four sent to compete with Seattle by three-fourths of a boat length over a course of 1½ miles. In the motor-boat races, Tom Hammond's Black Cat showed her heels to a field of eighteen, with a 2-minute handicap. In the swimming race Wilbur Kyle beat his brother, Earie, in 100 yards In the fifty-yard swimming dash A. T. Johnson won in the fast time of 32 seconds.

DONDS FOR GOOD

Proposes to Expend Hundred Thousand on Thoroughfares—Not a Dissenting Voice at Meeting.

VENTURIA. Sept. 6.—The heart of Ventura county is to have good roads. At a meeting held at the Mound school-house Saturday owners of the bigset farms lying in that section of the Santa Clara Valley, between Ventura and Santa Paula, and between the mountains and the Santa Clara-River, took steps for the proposed improvements. The property in the district represented is assessed for more than $5,-000,000, and the bond issue suggested is for $100,000. The district, roughly speaking, is sixteen miles long by eight wide, and is the very heart of the Santa Clara River.

The roads to be paved are the Telegraph road, the main highway between Ventures and Country borthous and Congressional maneu-Ventures and Country borthous statements. The roads to be paved are the Telegraph road, the main highway between Ventura and Santa Paula, which is sixteen miles long, and which will be made into a boulevard, and palm treesplanted along the sides; the main road from Ventura to Saticoy, the road from Ventura to the Montalvo crossing of the Santa Clara River, this end of the Conejo road, the Foothill road out of Santa Paula to the Limoneira Rancho, and three cross roads in the valley from the foothills to the Santa Clara River.

There was not a voice of dissent at the meeting, and steps will be taken at once to set aside the section interested as a special road district to issue bonds.

BEATS THE "UNBEATEN."

In a gingery game on the local grounds yesterday, Ventura beat Santa Maria at baseball by a score of 7 to 1. The Santa Maria nine had not met defeat before this season in the Coast Brush League country. Santa Maria pitched Sheahy, a former St. Mary's College star, and Ventura had in the box young Gally, who was a winner for Pomona College.

RIVERSIDE SALE.

RIVERSIDE SALE.

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 6.—The sale was concluded day before yesterday of the D. P. Chapman block on Main street, which was purchased by the dry goods firm of G. Rouse & Co. It has 72 feet frontage on Main street between Eighth and Ninth streets. It runs back 157 feet to an alley and its central location makes it one of the most desirable pieces of property on Main street. For nearly fourteen years, the first floor of the block has been occupied by G. Rouse & Co. It is the intention of Mr. Rouse to remodel the store and occupy the entire building, placing some of the departments on the second floor. The conaideration is not made public, but it is understood to be in the neighborhood of $70,000.

Bad blood is responsible for most of our ailments, and when from any cause it becomes infected with impurities, humors or poisons, trouble in some form is sure to follow. Maddy, sallow complexions, cruptions, pimples, etc. show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acrid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores and ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise, or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was healthy the place would heal at once; but being infected with impurities which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up, the fibres and tissues are broken, and the sore continues until the blood is purified of the cause. S. S. is Nature's blood-purifier and endic, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks. It goes down into the circulation and removes every particle of impurity, humor or poison, restores lost vitality, and steadily tones up the entire system. S. S. s. neutralizes any excess of acid in the blood, making it pure, fresh and healthy, and permanently cures Eczema. Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Bolla, and all other skin eruption or disease. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.
